

Salo Wittmayer
Baron Endowment in Jewish Studies

Faculty Research and Development Grant

made possible by a generous gift from Dr. Shoshana B. Tancer and Robert S. Tancer

This is an ASU faculty award to fund faculty research in Jewish studies, with a preference for non-Eurocentric topics, named for Shoshana Tancer's father, Professor Salo Wittmayer Baron—the most important Jewish historian in the 20th century.

A $7,500 (USD) award is granted every three years to current ASU faculty.

Details

- Only current/active ASU faculty members are eligible to utilize this funding.
- Proposed research should anticipate formal publication (e.g. article; book chapter).
- Funding may be split between eligible applicants as deemed appropriate by the award committee.
- Award(s) granted at the discretion of the Director of Jewish Studies in consultation with the Dean of Humanities, wherein their judgment as to a suitable project is proposed.

How to Apply

- A proposal, not to exceed 1,500 words, describing your project, anticipated deliverables, and the significance of the research to Jewish studies. In addition to the project description, you must include a budget outlining how you anticipate utilizing the funding.
- Submit proposal via email to Lisa.Kaplan@asu.edu

Questions?

Lisa.Kaplan@asu.edu

application deadline:
5:00 p.m. (MST) on April 29, 2022

information and prior recipients

jewishstudies.asu.edu/baron-faculty